

Rusk Refuses Reply To Laird Criticism On Southeast Asia

Congressman Hits at 'False Premises' in Honolulu Talks

BY ROBERT MYERS

HONOLULU (AP) — American policy makers, in the final hours of their secret strategy talks, were occupied today with the question of what more the United States must do to prop up Southeast Asia against intensified Communist pressure.

The two-day meeting already was setting off political reverberations in election-conscious Washington. But the assembled diplomatic and military authorities at Pacific Command headquarters appeared to ignore—at least officially—everything but the subjects at hand.

Efforts to solve the Southeast Asia crisis began Monday with a more-than nine-hour session that convened in a heavily guarded room, moved to a private beach for a working lunch and closed back behind locked doors.

Silent on Details
That same schedule was in force today with most of the officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who presided, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who planned to fly home to Washington after final adjournment about dusk.

None of the conferees would disclose what directions their meetings were taking. It appeared likely that details of any recommendations will be revealed only after approval by President Johnson.

Political reaction to the talks came from Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the Republican congressional cam-

Peking Charges U. S. Plans Aggression

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today "American overlords" at the Honolulu conference are planning military adventures that will sink them "ever deeper into the quagmire of aggression in South Viet Nam."

Radio Peking also charged that "troops of the United States, Thailand and South Viet Nam's puppet regime are just waiting to invade Laos." It said the United States had worked out plans to bomb Laotian cities.

"U.S. official circles are planning to extend the war to the Viet Nam Democratic Republic," said the broadcast, quoting an article in the official People's Daily of Peking.

Johnson Says U. S. Aiming to Halt Red Tide

Southeast Asian Future at Stake, President Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the aim of Honolulu talks on Southeast Asia is to promote the "efficiency and effectiveness" of American moves to stem the Communist tide in that part of the world.

Johnson said the future of all of Southeast Asia is at stake in Laos and South Viet Nam.

It is not just jungle warfare but a struggle for freedom on all fronts, he said in a statement read to a news conference. It was the President's first meeting with reporters since May 9.

Peace U. S. Aim

Citing peace as the aim of American policy, Johnson said the United States will "keep its word" to help the people of South Viet Nam maintain their freedom. In this connection, he read a letter which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent to the president of South Viet Nam in 1954 spelling out American policy.

"It was a good letter then and it's a good letter now," he said. Johnson, who met with some 25 reporters in his office, declined to be drawn into any extended discussion of Southeast Asian problems. He said he thought that should await completion of the Honolulu talks by top military, diplomatic and intelligence officials.

However, when Johnson was asked about a weekend statement by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., that the American government has laid plans for carrying the Vietnamese war into the northern part of that country, Johnson replied:

"I know of no plans that have been made."

On other topics, Johnson: —Emphasized that the United States is committed to the goal of a united, Socialist India.

Shastri, 59, gave no clue to the foreign policy he will pursue. He indicated high regard for Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, a leading candidate for the foreign minister's post.

Shastri wept as he recalled Nehru's death last week and said of Mrs. Gandhi: "Her continued association with us will be a source of strength to all of us."

He welcomed the support of former Finance Minister Morarji Desai, his opponent who yielded after a determined five-day succession struggle.

"I am sure this will generate a new confidence in the country and will have an impact on the outside world also," Shastri said.

Shastri said the party's immediate task is to win the support of the people.

Shastri Gets Party Vote to Succeed Nehru

Pledges to Continue Efforts for United, Socialist India

BY DAVID LANCASHIRE

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's ruling Congress party named mild-mannered Lal Bahadur Shastri

by acclamation today to succeed the late Prime Minister Nehru. He pledged to work for Nehru's goal of a united, Socialist India.

Shastri said shortly after Congress party members of Parliament named him their leader, a designation which automatically carried nomination as prime minister.

Shastri, 59, gave no clue to the foreign policy he will pursue. He indicated high regard for Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, a leading candidate for the foreign minister's post.

U.S. and Red Romania In Agreement on Trade

A Lone Stream of Water Did little to stop the $250,000 fire that swept the Jacobs Bros. grocery store in West DePere Monday. The fire broke out at 5:40 p.m. near the store's incinerator and spread quickly in the one-story building. DePere volunteer firemen fought the blaze. (AP Wirephoto)

2 Nuclear Plants May Be Included

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Armed with a new U.S. trade policy pledge, Communist Romania hopes to buy large quantities of American industrial equipment soon — probably including two big nuclear power plants.

The Bucharest government, which has rejected Soviet economic domination, is reported to have a shopping list for purchases of industrial equipment in the United States and Western Europe amounting to possibly $150 million.

How much of this will be bought in the United States under a government agreement announced Monday will depend on what kind of deals the Romanians can make with manufacturers and the credit terms they can get.

Credit Issue Problems

U.S. officials said the credit issue is still unresolved and will require a decision by President Johnson. However they expect Johnson will decide it is in the U.S. interest to have the Export-Import Bank guarantee five-year credits for Romania.

The new pact negotiated during the past two weeks also provides that the legations in Washington and Bucharest will be elevated to embassies. William A. Crawford, U.S. minister to Romania, is expected to be given the new ambassadorial post.

American officials said the agreement will definitely mean more export business for this country but they also attached considerable political significance to it.

In effect the United States has taken the position that since Romania has shown growing independence of Moscow and has

New Wave of Typhoid May Hit Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — The city of Aberdeen braced today for a possible third wave in its typhoid epidemic.

Already 224 persons have been stricken and one woman has died. Another 17 suspected cases are in crowded hospitals and reports of infection are turning up in other parts of the country.

The original outbreak in this seaside city of 186,000 was blamed on a can of defective corned beef sold in a supermarket. The victims spread the disease to neighbors.

Today could be crucial in the fight to confine the disease said city health officer, Dr. Ian MacQueen.

"If there is a third wave—and we should know about the middle of the week—then matters will be very serious," he said.

Sixty-four cases were added Monday to the mounting toll. It was the biggest one-day rise since the epidemic broke out 11 days ago.

Aberdeen remained under siege, with schools and entertainment spots closed and trade half dead. People have been warned not to enter or leave the city.

Gemini Flights Stay on Schedule

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gemini space flights remained on schedule today, a manned Spacecraft Center official said, with the second unmanned launch probably in September and the manned shot before the new year.

A timetable for the hardware was released Monday. The Gemini spacecraft is still being tested in St. Louis, Mo., but will move to Cape Kennedy for mating with the launch vehicle in late July.

The schedule said launching would be eight weeks after delivery to Cape Kennedy.

The Gemini manned flights will place two men in earth orbit to develop techniques and space equipment for the Apollo moon shot, scheduled sometime this decade.

Youth Gets Life Term In Fatal Stabbing

BELOIT (AP)—John P. Webster, 18, of Beloit, was sentenced Monday to life imprisonment in the death of another youth during a gang fight in a Beloit parking lot on New Year's Eve.

A county court jury had convicted Webster of first degree murder in the stabbing of Charles Hanson, 19, of South Hattian, on June 19. A planned 20-man jury heard testimony from Hanson's father, Judge Edwin C. Dahlberg, who received the verdict last Friday.

The jury acquitted Webster on a charge of attempted murder in the stabbing of Larry Margis, 23, also of South Beloit, who recovered from his groin beat, knifed, robbed and Jews set up the patrols to guard

$250,000 Loss in Supermarket Fire

Store Ventilating System at West DePere Spreads Blaze

WEST DE PERE, (AP)—A fire drawn into a ventilating system and blown through the area above a false ceiling destroyed the Jacobs Bros. supermarket Monday. The loss was estimated at $250,000.

Peter Herber, chief of the nearly all-volunteer De Pere Fire Department, said the blaze started in the back room but spread search for the cause is continuing. He said it may have spread from an incinerator or been ignited by faulty wiring.

"The ventilator was running," Herber said, and sucked the flames into the system and blew them between the false ceiling and the flat roof. We couldn't get at the ventilator. We didn't have a chance."

Fire in Back Room
The fire was discovered in the back room of the 80 by 160 foot masonry, single story building by store manager Gary Guertz, who said the flames "were sweeping along the floor."

Guertz said he was unable to stem the blaze with a hand extinguisher and then sounded the alarm. Employees and about 25 customers fled unharmed, leaving everything behind, including the money in the cash registers.

Witnesses said that in a few minutes the entire store, built six years ago, was in flames. The fire broke through the roof, sending up billows of black, yellow and white smoke that could be seen for miles.

Portions of the walls were dog let the guards go and came pulled down by the firemen, across the border to its master, kingdom of Burundi.

who were on the scene for six hours after the blaze was reported at 5:45 p.m. A small crew stayed overnight to guard against a new outbreak.

"It's a total loss," said Herber, a brother of former Green Bay Packer professional football star Arnie Herber.

The store, one of the largest buildings in West De Pere, is on the western outskirts, about a half mile from Highway 41. It was owned by the Henry R. Jacobs family.

John Jacobs, the corporation secretary, supplied the loss estimate, but Herber said the $250,000 figure might be on the low side.

Dog Helps German Escape Into West

HOF, Germany (AP)—A dog helped a young East German escape to West Germany, border police reported today.

A 17-year-old mechanic and his dog crossed the Iron Curtain north of this Bavarian town Monday.

The youth was about to crawl through the barbed wire fence when the dog crossed the border north of this Bavarian town Monday.

The youth got through to West Germany, then whistled. The Africa, directs the rebels from headquarters in the neighboring kingdom of Burundi.

Campaign Against Terrorism

New York to Have More Subway Police, Two-Way Radio Network

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for way trains and a Staten Island often came from Bedford-Stuyvesant

After a meeting with Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy, Rabbi Samuel Schrage, who organized the patrols, said: "We learned of the police problem and difficulty in getting enough men into the department and onto the street. The commissioner assured us he would do everything in his power to protect our area and all areas of the city."

The Rabbi said the Maccabee patrols would continue.

Extra Radio Cars
Murphy said that he was putting extra radio cars in Crown Heights and that a proportionate number of new policemen from the this summer's graduating class would be assigned to the area.

Civil rights leaders were virtually unanimous in describing the weekend outburst of violence as indicating the frustration of a minority group unfairly deprived of proper education, housing and employment.

Boy's Failure to Finish School Work May be Psychological

Dear Dr. Jones: Our 13-year-old son is going to flunk 7th grade because he won't buckle down. The teachers tell me he has the ability, but he doesn't work. If he were to have an oral examination, he'd make straight A's. He reads everything he can get hold of and remembers what he reads. But at school he doesn't finish up papers on time, and he doesn't turn in his homework. As a result, he's failing mathematics and science. We have had him tutored for the past two summers and he managed to scrape by without flunking. But the tutor still had ing me a lot of aggravation. We live in a very nice neighborhood but the homes on our side of the street are close together. The woman who lives next door shakes her dirty mops and throw rugs out her bedroom window. Her window faces my sewing room and I get all her dirt and dust. I thought only ignorant slobbs did such things. Our home is a two-story dwelling, just as hers is, but I always go outside and shake my rugs and mops behind the house. She has seen me do this, but refuses to take the hint. What next?—Sally

Dear Sally: Stop hinting and tell her you'd appreciate it if she'd give you a few minutes warning before she shakes her rugs and mops—so you can close your windows. When necking becomes petting, watch out. To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

Dear Dr. Jones: My 16-month-old daughter drinks very well from a glass or cup, never spilling a drop. But she always leaves a little in the bottom of the cup. Then she turns it over and watches it run down the glass, drip, drip, drip on the table. Why? I've been letting it go, but I'm getting annoyed. MRS. P. G.

Don't get annoyed. She's practicing the same curiosity that wins Nobel prizes for other scientists. Let her have the same fun dabbling in the bathtub or a dishpan though. And prevent later problems with food and mealtime by taking the cup away from her the next time she starts to play, saying, "Milk is to drink, not to play with. If you're finished, let's get you away from the table."

Hears Sister Try to Lure Mate—Husband Is Obdurate

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I told myself for months I was imagining it, that it was impossible. But now I know the truth. Last night I witnessed an incident which leaves no room for doubt. My older sister, who is divorced, is making a play for my husband. Wade and I have been married three years. We have one little boy and I'm pregnant again. We've always gotten along well and I have never worried about Wade cheating. But it's easy to see how a man could get involved with Annette. She is beautiful, provocative and so aggressive you wouldn't believe it. Last night we had some people over. I went to the back porch to get more ice cubes. As I walked toward the kitchen I heard Annette say, "I've felt this way about you from the first." Wade replied, "You're drunk, Annette. Please be quiet or someone will hear you."

I walked around to the front of the house and came in through the front door. I'm sick at heart. What shall I do?—Shattered

Dear Shattered: Tell your husband you heard the back porch dialogue and let him know you trust him implicitly. Tell Wade, too, you will say nothing to Annette—that it's up to him. Then stay out of it. Carry on with her as if you heard nothing and know nothing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl who will be twelve years old in ten months. All my friends have been told the facts of life by their mothers. My mother hasn't said one word to me about anything personal, yet. Isn't this her duty? I have dropped some hints to her but she acts like she doesn't know what I am talking about. This subject and there are loads of things I would like to know. Some girls tell their little brothers and sisters everything taken on a lot right at the start. How much should we spend on food, savings, clothes, entertainment, miscellaneous, car gas, and utilities? Health insurance is taken out of our pay checks. I get my hair done once a week and my husband gets a hair cut every other week. This amounts to $12.50 a month for the two of us. Should I get my hair done at all?

We have 17 birthdays in our families and four anniversaries! Our ice box and television $30; personal expenses, $40; and stereo will be paid off next month, and the car will be paid off in December of this year. But that seems so far off. Please help us, we just don't know which way to turn.

Mrs. J., Crestview, Fla. Don't wreck your budget trying to send gifts on all those birthdays and anniversaries of life by their mothers. My relatives would surely greet me about anything personal, yet. Isn't this her duty? I have dropped some hints to her but she acts like she doesn't know what I am talking about. # Experience serves them well

Golden Agers lent considerable experience to a new venture during the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club social season. The Newcomers, many of whom are mothers of young children, were able to attend their monthly luncheons without searching for baby-sitters. The children were taken to Grandmas', lots of Grandmas, who were willing and eager to entertain the children while their mothers were at their Elks Club luncheons.

The program for pre-schoolers was organized in the fall by Mrs. Eugene Knight, assisted by Mrs. Larry Ellis. The mothers took their children to the Golden Age Clubhouse, where there was television, games, stories, boxes of crayons and other creative materials for those who wanted them. A small fee was charged for each child, with part of the money going for supplies and the rest toward the clubhouse mortgage.

Mrs. Elsie Kunstman and Mrs. Otto Zimmerman found the once-a-month sessions such fun that they never missed one. When the program is resumed in the fall, Mrs. Frank Erm will have charge of plans for the next year.

With a Child on Her Lap and two at her feet, Mrs. Elsie Kunstman reads a favorite story. She has not missed a session since the program began in the fall. ## Summer Jobs for Teens Appear Hard to Find Teen-agers with summer job ambitions are likely to face some real competition this year. There are now more than 18 million boys and girls in the 14-to-19 age bracket, plus four million older students in college, according to the Institute of Life Insurance. Although no one knows how many will go job-hunting, it is estimated that only about 7 million of them will find some kind of paying job, part time or full time, this summer.

The U. S. Department of Labor warns that "prospects for enough paid vacation jobs to go around are even less bright this year than in the past." Many students, it suggests, would do well to look into the opportunities for service and experience offered by volunteer work. It may not fatten their wallets but it can meet the teen-ager's vital need for recognition and a sense of accomplishment.

Service Groups Students interested in volunteer work can get information from the Red Cross, the YMCA and YWCA, hospitals, religious and welfare organizations, community centers, women's clubs and other civic groups. Among paid summer jobs, one of the favorites, especially for older students, is working as counselors in summer camps. About half of next summer's 300,000 camp counselors will be college students (regular counselors generally have to be at least 19 years old). In addition, some camps have CIT (counselor in training) programs for teen-agers, which offer a reduction in the regular camp fee in exchange for light chores and assisting older counselors.

Other summer jobs that students find appealing (and often highly profitable) are at resort hotels, country clubs, beaches, amusement parks and souvenir stands. The Federal Government has thousands of summer jobs that don't require special training or experience. The Forest Service time-will stand them in good stead when school days are over. For thousands of teen-agers, summer time is saving time—usually toward meeting college expenses. With the college costs rising year after year, students can and should take on some of the money responsibility themselves. A student's earnings from part-time and summer work help ease the family's financial burdens and can serve to strengthen the student's own motivation. As we all know, we tend to get more out of things when we put something into them ourselves.

alone employs about 15,000 summer workers, mainly west of the Mississippi. Some retail stores make a practice of hiring students during summer months, often on a part-time basis. This makes good sense for teenagers who don't want to miss out altogether on summer fun and relaxation.

Guidance Teachers Assist An important source of vacation-time employment are the summer on-the-job training programs of many large companies, including life insurance companies, banks and industrial corporations. School guidance teachers are the best source of information in this area.

State employment offices take special interest in students looking for summer work. New York, for example, has set up a Youth Employment Service (YES for short). Students should also check with the local commercial employment agencies and, of course, should keep an eye on the help wanted ads in this newspaper.

Experience Counts Vacation-time jobs can mean a lot more than extra pocket money. They can give students a unique opportunity for first-hand experience in the business world, to firm up career choices, and to establish useful contacts for the future. Perhaps more important still, they help students develop poise and confidence in working with others, and to take responsibility and initiative. This

Conditioning Shampoo

A lovely asks. What is the two eggs separately: whip the value of an egg shampoo? Is it whites to a froth and fold them true that a good one can be into the yolks. Wet the head whipped up in the kitchen?

The Answer Eggs are loaded with protein and vitamin A. And those components are pre- sently believed to make an ef- fective hair treatment. Coating the hair with protein is thought to soften the shafts and thus help to prevent breakage. Like the facial complexion, the scalp seems to respond to external ap- plications of vitamin A. In any event, egg shampoo s cleanse effectively and provide a lovely sheen. Several cosmetic houses make very good egg shampoos. To concoct your own, use this recipe and application method. Beat the yolks and whites of

The Ailing House Sagging Steps Need Rebuilding

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q. We have a front stoop of four wood steps, which is be- ginning to sag. A space is de- veloping between the stoop and the house, at the top. Is there any way to brace the stoop, or what kind of repair do you recommend?

A. Bracing would only be a temporary measure. Probably, the wood structural supports have started to rot, causing the steps to sag. Complete recon- struction will be necessary. If you desire wood steps again, first put down a concrete slab footing of about three to four inches thick and treat all of the wood with a chemical wood preservative. Keep the joints between the concrete and the wood well caulked at all times.

Gardening is a year - round project no matter in what part of the country you reside. For your copy of a very informative 15-page booklet, "A Gardener's Calendar," send 25 cents in coin to Roger C. Whitman in care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

Group Regains Polaris Corp. Board Control

Resignations Climax Bitter Battle Over Management Policy

Forces supporting Milwaukee banker Eliot Fitch were victorious Monday in regaining control of the $40 million Polaris Corp., a widely diversified holding company.

The battle, which raged hot and heavy between two factions for weeks, was climaxed by the resignation of Fitch's former protegee, John H. Kelly, 35, as president.

Among the 1,200 Polaris shareholders are several in the Fox Valley area.

Aligned with the pro-Fitch forces was John B. Torinus, a vice president of the Post-Crescent and editor of the daily and Sunday Post-Crescent, who instituted court action against the Kelly-led management two weeks ago.

Torinus took his action as a stockholder of Polaris Corp., obtaining a restraining order against the Kelly group.

Polaris stock, traded over the counter, dipped about three points during the management fight but recovered one and a half points as of today.

Kelly Resigns
Monday's chain of events represented a full capitulation by Kelly and supporters. Kelly announced his resignation and those of four directors who had backed him in a drive that led to the ouster of Fitch as president on April 27. The five also agreed to end all ties with Polaris and its subsidiaries.

Fitch, one of the founders of Polaris three years ago and head of the Marine Corp., a bank holding company, and directors who supported him against Kelly the elected F. S. Cornell as president.

Cornell will retire next month as executive vice president of Milwaukee's A. O. Smith Corp. Polaris holdings include Milwaukee's Marine Plaza, the City Bank and Trust Co. a commercial and industrial building firm, and television and radio station interests.

Kaukauna Family Witnessed Crash At '500' Races

KAUKAUNA—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chopin and son, Michael, Riverside Drive, witnessed the seven-car pile-up at the Indianapolis '500' race Saturday, which two drivers were killed.

The crash occurred directly in front of them. They sat in the third row of box seats from the track, according to Mrs. Chopin. Heat from the fire spread over the area and for a short time people in the area scrambled for fear the fire would spread to the stands, said Mrs. Chopin.

The first car seemed to explode, and flames were instantaneous over the track with other cars forced to drive into the inferno, said Mrs. Chopin.

When announcement was made of the death of Eddie Sachs, Mrs. Chopin stated "you could hear a pin drop despite the stands being filled with 300,000 people."

Bridge Traffic Test Reports Progress

Menasha Police Describe Study As 'Wonderful,' Going Well

MENASHA — Scattered, early reports on the bridge traffic survey being conducted today in five Fox Cities indicated the survey is going extremely well. Police described it as "wonderful."

Menasha police said cooperation in the survey so far is nearly 100 per cent. The survey began at midnight Monday and will continue until midnight today.

Mailing of the cards also was reported good. A few hours after postal offices opened postal officials reported receiving several hundred cards.

Traffic on all bridges was reported moving well.

Indications were the survey will be highly successful with a large percentage of motorists cooperating in mailing the cards given out.

Police, however, report many motorists confused with the cards, believing they were supposed to receive only one card. Police pointed out motorists will be given a card each time they cross a bridge and all cards should be filled out and mailed.

An actual count on the number of cards distributed at 11 bridges was not available early this morning. However, it is believed to be well into the thousands.

The survey is intended to determine whether a new bridge is needed across Little Lake Butte des Morts in the vicinity of Ninth Street.

It is being conducted on bridges in Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna and Little Chute.

Several motorists, nearly all of whom are commercial drivers, expect to spend several hours tonight filling out cards. For example, bus drivers, who cross bridges numerous times during the day, are expected to receive close to 10 cards each. One taxi driver said he already has a "stack" of cards but intends to fill out and mail them all.

More than 100 persons are taking part in distribution of the cards. They include members of the state highway department, local police and auxiliary police workers.

Fine Birthday Celebrant $25 for Drunkenness

Ralph W. Whitehead, Jr., 21, 1624 Orchard Drive, was fined $25 and costs in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 today where he pleaded guilty of drunkenness.

Whitehead was arrested by Appleton police after he made a disturbance in the downtown area. Whitehead told police he had been celebrating his 21st birthday. He was held overnight in the city jail.

Top Billing Friday

Dairy Month Feature — Mayor Mitchell vs. Cow

Mayor Clarence Mitchell is usually willing to lend a helping hand.

As a result, his honor has an appointment with a cow this week.

But in this case the mayor will have to lend a few hands.

The stage has been set for him to do the wooing . . . and the bovine to do the mooing . . . in front of the Appleton State Bank Friday night.

This unusual setting is for launching the "June Dairy Month" observance in the Fox Cities.

Mitchell has agreed to grab a stool and bucket and milk one of several cows to be on display on the bank's outdoor mall.

Dairy Promotion

The Outagamie County Older Youth has planned the extensive dairy month promotion with the Outagamie County Farm Bureau, County Extension office, the bank, 4-H club members and others comprising the supporting cast.

On each Friday night and Saturday during June, a variety of farm animals will be displayed in front of the bank. Arrangements are being made to cope with any "emergency."

Milk and other dairy foods, along with printed material, will be distributed, the purpose to make the public more aware of the value and importance of dairy products.

Kaukauna was born on a farm near Kaukauna but admits he left the rural area at an early age and can't recall the last time when he milked a cow.

'I'm Game'

"But I'm game," Mitchell said, recalling the adage. "You can take the boy out of the country but not the country out of the boy."

Mitchell and cow will have their command performance Friday at 7 p.m.

"This kickoff will not be a contest," the promoters wrote Mitchell, "so there will be no time limit on how long or how much milk you get."

"Everything will be furnished for you," they added, which includes complete coverage of the "spectacular" by the press, radio and TV.

Mitchell today was highly optimistic that he will receive good cooperation from the cow.

He probably read the slogan of the Appleton State Bank:

"... The bank with the personal touch."

Low Pay Leads Three to Leave Municipal Jobs

Engineering Aides Quit Appleton Posts To Work in Industry

The City of Appleton is losing engineering division employees to private industry because the pay is more attractive.

Public Works Director Robert Bues informed the common council's street-sanitation committee Monday that three engineering aides accepted employment elsewhere during the last month.

"We will be in trouble if we lose any of our registered engineers," Bues said.

The employees accepted jobs with firms in the Fox Cities area, one man receiving about $2,000 a year more than what the city pays.

Committee members felt if the city did not revise its salary schedule for some positions, it would have a serious problem holding present employees or hiring new ones.

During discussion it was disclosed attempts to hire an aide for the planning division have been unsuccessful to date, the starting salary was presumed to be the cause.

The city personnel committee has requested the State Bureau of Personnel to review the municipal salary schedule. This will be done later in the year.

In other action, the committee:

Recommended vacation of one block of N. Durkee Street as requested by the St. Therese congregation which plans to build a new gymnasium-youth activity center in the area.

Approved a $25,000 emergency sanitary sewer construction project on Badger Avenue in a one block area, and a storm sewer project in the area of Miller Electric Co.

Asked the board of health to Brandt, Herbert Sievers, Robert Lathrop and Percy Sharp.

Beltrone will head a committee planning a family picnic on the Legion grounds June 28. He will present membership awards to Legionnaires at this time.

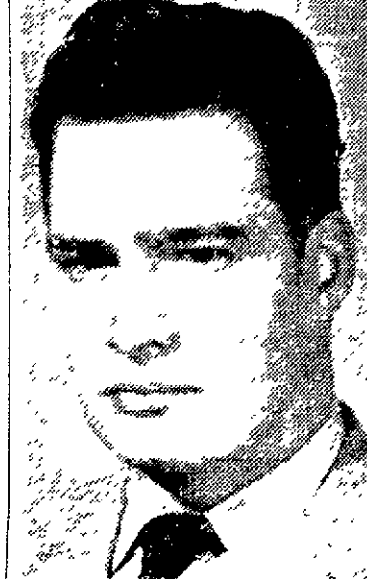

Vaughan and other Legionnaires will take Badger Boys State delegates to Ripon College on June 13 and bring them back June 20.

Menasha Council Moves Toward New City Center

MENASHA — A major step in obtaining a new municipal administration center for Menasha will be taken here tonight when council takes action on a request to hire an architect to draw up preliminary plans for a building and make a recommendation on a site.

The request to hire an architect will be made by Fifth Ward Ald. Richard O. Hansen, chairman of the municipal building committee. Hansen said Monday night during a committee of the whole session that the committee has agreed the time has come to hire an architect.

Hansen said he will officially ask for an architect tonight.

Hansen said several architects have been interviewed and that one can be hired to draw up preliminary plans for $5,000. That is the amount set aside in the 1964 municipal budget for that purpose.

Once preliminary plans are decided on a permanent architect is expected to be hired.

Consideration of constructing a new city hall began in early 1963 when Mayor John Klein announced he would form a committee to study the need and possibilities for such a project.

Hansen was appointed to head the committee along with five aldermen and laymen.

6 Primary Elections Scheduled Today

Spotlight on GOP Contest Between Rockefeller and Goldwater in California

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican presidential race has a chance to talk to you. Not to be buttonholed by the day as Sen. Barry Goldwater, opposition they booed and start-and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller meet in their dramatic California showdown.

After the smoke has cleared and the primary votes counted, Republicans may have a clearer idea whether Goldwater's strong charge toward the nomination can be stopped—or whether perhaps it has gained unstoppable momentum.

While the limelight glared on California five other states—Alabama, Mississippi, Montana, New York and South Dakota—also had primaries today, picking senators, congressmen, and convention delegates.

Ended Monday
The campaign careened to an end Monday night in the Golden State with speeches by Goldwater and Rockefeller, chanting supporters, Dixieland bands—and worried police.

Winding up a 12-city, 1,500-mile election eve tour of California, Rockefeller flew into a hot reception at Los Angeles International Airport.

Police, finding that a good part of the welcoming delegation were Goldwater supporters, called in reinforcements.

If it hadn't been for Goldwater leaders pacifying the crowd before Rockefeller's arrival, one officer said, "We would have had a riot on our hands."

Rocky Delighted
But Rockefeller made the most of his chance, announcing, "I am delighted so many of Sen. Goldwater's followers are

Renk Charges Proxmire Has Tripled Mailing

Suggests Limit to Franking Privilege Granted Senators

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilbur Renk, the endorsed Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, said Monday that Democratic incumbent Sen. William Proxmire has "tripled and quadrupled the mailing list of his so-called newsletter." Proxmire denied it.

Renk said in a statement issued at Madison that "new people are getting copies and some people are getting three and four copies."

Free Mailing
He suggested legislation to limit the free mailing privileges granted senators and representatives according to state population, and also suggested an annual report on the cost of free mailing.

Proxmire said in Washington, "I don't have one list as such to which I mail constantly. I send to different people." He also said, "We have probably increased the number of people getting the newsletter—but not a great deal."

Talbot Peterson of Appleton, the state GOP chairman, said Monday night the state's 30 delegates to the party's national convention would be barred from making a declaration in favor of a particular presidential candidate.

Delegation Pledged
The delegation to the convention is pledged for at least the first ballot to favorite son candidate Rep. John W. Byrnes. Peterson had been asked to comment on the announcement by the National Conservative Council that it would ask the delegates to declare for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The conservative group's plans were announced by Wayne B. Olson of Brookfield, secretary-treasurer of the national organization and head of the state unit. The council said it has considered running Goldwater or another candidate on a third party ticket if he does not get the GOP nomination.

Wisconsin Lauded For Action on Road Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wisconsin officials were told Monday that if its example was followed by all states, the schedule opening of the entire national interstate highway system in 1972 would be assured.

Letters congratulating Wisconsin on becoming the first state to authorize the acquisition of all its right-of-way for the system were sent by Acting Secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Federal Highway Administrator Rex M. Whitton.

Roosevelt wrote Gov. John W. Reynolds, "The progress your state is making helps hasten the day when the entire interstate system will be open to traffic and its many benefits will be enjoyed by the people of the United States."

Whitton said in a letter to Harvey Grasse, chairman of the Wisconsin Highway Commission: "Wisconsin's progress on the interstate system is exemplary. With almost 60 per cent of your 445 miles open to traffic your state has forged ahead of our goal of opening 50 per cent of the system by the end of this year."

To Humans, Wildlife

Freeman Intends to Prove That Pesticides Are Not Hazardous

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman intends to try to prove through field tests and studies that properly applied chemical pesticides are not a hazard to humans and wildlife.

Freeman's decision to make the field tests was announced in a statement Monday. It said evidence submitted at public hearings here, at Memphis, Tenn., and Baton Rouge, La., and a four-state conference at New Orleans failed to show that pesticides were responsible for recent fish kills in the lower Mississippi River.

No Evidence
The department, in the face of strong criticism of widespread use of pesticides and the like,

Sukarno Planning Tokyo Trip for Summit Talks
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno said today he would leave Friday for the Malaysia, Indonesia, Philippine summit talks in Tokyo, but the talks still may not open.

In Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian Foreign Office said the summit meeting might be deferred unless Indonesia explains last-minute conditions it imposed.

Prime Minister Abdul Rahman of Malaysia wants at least a token withdrawal of the Indonesian-backed guerrillas who have been fighting in Malaysia's Borneo states of Sarawak and Sabah.

After tentative agreement last Saturday for the summit meeting, Indonesia said withdrawal of the guerrillas would depend on progress of the summit talks.

May Cigarette Sales Down in Wisconsin
MADISON (AP)—Cigarette sales in Wisconsin were down 5.3 million packs in May, compared to the number sold in the same month in 1963, the State Tax Department reported today. Sales last month totaled 34.8 million packages.

Total sales for the first five months of 1964 came to 163,822,608 packages, nine per cent less than in the January-May period of 1963, the department noted.

Prisoners Forced To Donate Blood
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Condemned Cuban prisoners are forced to contribute to a blood bank before they are shot, exiles claimed today.

Anti-Castro leaders protested to international organizations that Ruben Acosta and Justo Garcia, both 16, were forced to donate blood, then executed.

Goldwater May Shape Republicans' Platform

Laird Says Same Would Not be True If Rockefeller Wins in California

WASHINGTON (AP)—The outcome of today's presidential primary in California between Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is expected to have a major effect on the makeup of the Republican platform.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the GOP platform committee, said that if Goldwater wins, it is quite possible a majority of the 100-man platform committee will resolve all close issues on the basis of Goldwater's stated positions.

However, Laird said, the converse is not true if Goldwater loses. Laird said a Rockefeller win in the California primary will not mean that the New York governor will shape the platform.

Open Scramble
Instead, he said, it will be a wide open scramble to shape the party platform with backers of Rockefeller, Goldwater, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and others all pressing to get their views accepted.

A Goldwater win in California would put him in a strong position at the Republican National Convention in July. On the other hand, many believe a Rockefeller win in today's test would open the way toward the nomination of a compromise candidate such as Nixon or Scranton.

Laird Careful
Laird has been careful to take no position for any possible candidate for the party's presidential nomination with the exception of his backing of Rep. John W. Byrnes, Wisconsin's favorite-son candidate.

Laird has expressed hope the Republicans will take a moderate position on a civil rights plank, saying he thinks the Democrats will adopt an extreme position on that touchy issue.

"The Republicans should only promise what they hope to be able to deliver and not be in a position of seeking votes," Laird said.

Hearing on Ruby Sanity in Dallas Court June 19

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A June 19 show-cause hearing in open court has been scheduled to determine whether Jack Ruby gets a sanity trial.

The condemned slayer meanwhile will receive psychiatric treatment in his jail cell.

Judge Joe B. Brown gave permission for the treatment Monday after three psychiatrists reported Ruby is mentally ill.

Brown refused to say if Ruby is legally insane but said he suffers from "depression and regression."

Ruby, 33, night club operator, was convicted March 14 of murder with malice in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Brown said treatment for Ruby will start immediately.

"If he is not in better health by June 19, then a sanity trial will start July 6," Brown said.

Wagner, Kralick Lead Cleveland to Win Over Chisox

Indians Stop Sox, 3-0; Bunker Notches Sixth Win for Orioles

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Don't Fence Me In" never was Leon Wagner's theme song.

When the slugging outfielder was traded by the Los Angeles Angels to the Cleveland Indians, he said bluntly:

"Instead of trading me they should have pulled the fences in and doubled my salary."

The Angels, however, were unable to accommodate Wagner. The Indians may have to—in the salary department at least.

Proved Point

Wagner proved his point again Monday night, leading Cleveland to a 3-0 victory over the American League leading Chicago White Sox, collecting homer No. 11 and a single and scoring two runs in support of Jack Kralick's four-hit pitching.

Wagner hit only two homers at home last year in the wide-open spaces of Los Angeles' Dodger Stadium while hammering 24 on the road. But the Angels decided to leave the fences where they were and traded Wagner for pitcher Barry Latman and first baseman Joe Adcock.

Now Wagner's making a solid case for a pay raise.

His latest hot streak—11 hits in 18 at-bats, including homers in the last three games—has boosted his batting average to .309 and his runs batted in total to a league-leading 40. At this stage of the season, he's almost halfway to his 1963 figures of 26 homers and 90 RBI.

Stuart Homers

Boston's Dick Stuart, meanwhile, continued his homer hammering, hitting his seventh in the last nine games, a two-run shot in the eighth inning that gave the Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Angels.

In the other AL games scheduled, Wally Bunker posted his sixth victory without a loss as Baltimore whipped Kansas City 8-4 and Dick Stigman pitched Minnesota to a 2-1 victory by checking the New York Yankees on five hits.

The only National League game scheduled—Los Angeles at Pittsburgh—was rained out.

Wagner provided Kralick with the only run he needed by hitting his homer off Juan Pizarro in the fourth. The Indians scored their other runs in the sixth on Larry Brown's two-run single.

Kralick Now 5-1

Kralick, bringing his record to 5-1, was in serious trouble only in the seventh when the White Sox loaded the bases with two out. But he got Gerry McNertney, batting for Pizarro, to line out and end the threat. Pizarro now is 5-2.

Angels' starter Barry Latman, who hadn't given up an earned run, led 3-2 going into the seventh.

Spahn Will Get Starting Nod Against Reds

Bragan Considering More Shifting in Rest of Lineup

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It's a wonder that Warren Spahn doesn't wear red suspenders, like all other firemen.

The 43-year-old left-hander, something of a wonder himself, has been sent to the rescue again as the Milwaukee Braves threaten to slide down the pole that leads to the second division.

On the record, Spahn should be in position to right the Braves, who dropped into a fourth-place tie with Pittsburgh in losing their last three games to the Chicago Cubs. In the tight National League race—which has ninth place Houston only 7½ games off the pace—the slightest slip is costly.

Spahn and the rest of the Braves, who had an open date Monday, face the sixth-place Cincinnati Reds in County Stadium tonight. Spahn has 61 career victories over the Reds, who have beaten him only 28 times.

Other Positions

While Spahn is set to pitch, there were questions about the other positions as Manager Bobby Bragan considered more shifts in a sifting for bat punch.

Rico Carls is hitting 302 and Lee Maye .301, but both are left-fielders, at least most of the time. Carls has been playing regularly and Bragan wants to get Maye back into the lineup. Maye had a try at third base, but Eddie Mathews was something of a question mark at third.

Gene Conley Given Release By Cleveland

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Gene Conley, who undertook careers in both professional baseball and major league baseball, has been given his unconditional release by the Cleveland Indians.

The 6-foot-9 pitcher was picked up by Cleveland from the Boston Red Sox. The Indians sent the right-hander to Burlington of the Class A Carolina League to see if he could regain his old form.

The 33-year-old pitcher had a 1-1 record with Burlington. He beat Greensboro 4-3 last Monday with the help of strong relief pitching. Saturday night, he gave up 16 hits as Raleigh beat Burlington 9-2.

Conley played basketball in the National Basketball Association for both the Boston Celtics and the New York Knickerbockers.

Indians Held to Three Hits in Baseball Tourney

CHILTON—The Stockbridge High School Indians were eliminated by West De Pere, 6-0, in a playoff of district champions for the right to enter sectional competition in the WIAA baseball tourney.

Steve Wilmet stopped the Indians on three singles. Wilmet drove in the first run for West De Pere with a double to right field to score Bill Evers, who had walked. The victors added a pair of scores in the third and three in the fifth.

Wilmet fanned 13 and walked one.

Tom Schoen, Bob Mayer and Gary Daum managed one hit apiece off Wilmet. Schoen was the loser. He fanned six and passed four.

Coach Don Gosz' contingent finished the season with a 9-4 slate. Schoen recorded a 7-4 mark on the mound.

New London Wins District Playoff

Bulldogs Advance to Sectional; Reliefer Glocke Takes Victory

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA—New London remained alive in WIAA baseball tournament competition by beating Oconto Falls, 8-4, in a district playoff game here Monday.

The Bulldogs, who now advance to the sectional level, won the game with four runs in the top of the seventh inning. They had taken a 3-0 lead in the second, fell behind, 4-3, after five frames, tied the score in the sixth, then broke loose in the seventh.

The final frame included singles by Dave Dernbach and Joe Mullarky, two walks, a fielder's choice, a sacrifice and an error.

Three had scored in the second on a hit by Jeff Rugotska, an error, a passed ball on a strikeout and a fielder's choice.

Falls came up with a pair in the fourth and three hits and a trio of Bulldog errors permitted the losers to take a 4-3 lead in the fifth.

Scores Tying Run

John Moriarity led off the sixth with a hit, went all the way to third on an infield out and scored the tying run when Doug Ferndon committed a balk.

Gary Glocke, who relieved starter Jim McDaniel in the fourth inning, was the winning pitcher. But hurlers allowed two runs and they were tagged for a total of nine hits. Glocke, however, put the side down in order in the sixth and seventh.

Ferndon went the distance for the Panthers and allowed seven hits. Dernbach, Moriarity and Rugotska all collected two.

Ferndon and Bob Morrell both had a pair for the losers.

Vikings Seeking General Manager

Rose Resigns; Van Brocklin Not Interested in Both Jobs

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings went looking for a new general manager today with Coach Norm Van Brocklin professing disinterest in handling both jobs.

Bert E. Rose Jr., Vikings' general manager since the club's birth late in 1960, resigned Monday after months of speculation that his contract would not be renewed when it expired May 1.

Technically, Rose, 45, resigned "for personal reasons." That was his official reason listed in a prepared statement.

However, Rose told newsmen in response to a query of whether he had any remorse over leaving the Vikings:

"I'm sorry I'm leaving before the job I came to do is completed—to win a championship."

No Direct Statement

That comment prompted strong speculation Rose's resignation may have been forced by the board of directors, who would not make any direct statement on the point.

Regardless of the motive, attention turned today to whom the Vikings would hire to replace him.

Van Brocklin, in Los Angeles for an annual National Football League coaches meeting, said, "I'm not a candidate."

Defending PGA king Nicklaus toured the 6,851-yard par 34-36—70 layout in fine fashion with a 34-33—67. Boros, the National Open champion, was one over with a 36-35—71.

Nicklaus says it probably will take a 275 total to win the July 16-19 events.

Lost by Four

But Boros, despite losing by four strokes, said he thought a 272 or 273 could take the tourney, if the weather is good.

"This course is in fine shape," Boros told newsmen after the match. "I wasn't too happy with my putting. I haven't been putting well this year."

The pro stars were dueling to set the target score for the 13th annual National Golf Day, held last Saturday.

Amateur golfers, who paid $1 each to play on National Golf Day, needed a four-under-par score, with handicap, on their favorite courses to earn certificates from the PGA indicating they "beat the champ."

The money they dished out, along with Monday's receipts from the Nicklaus-Boros match, goes to the PGA for distribution to various projects and charities.

A gallery estimated at 3,500 paid $5 a head to watch the action and saw Nicklaus take the lead for good on the second hole.

Share Prices Dip Unevenly

Rails Lose Part of Recent Advances in Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Railroads backtracked from their rally of the previous session as the stock market moved irregularly lower early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to a point or so. New York Central was down well over a point and Pennsylvania Railroad lost about a point following news that the Justice Department still objects to their planned merger.

The trend in the rail group was unevenly lower. Elsewhere in the list, fractional gains and losses predominated, with no particular group providing strong leadership either to the plus or minus side. The averages were depressed by some fairly sharp losses by scattered blue chips.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.3 at 304.5 with industrials off 2.1, rails off .9 and utilities off .3.

Wall Street was preoccupied with the initial offering of five million shares of the Communications Satellite Corp. Great demand for the stock was reported among small investors and their attention was distracted from the big board to the over-the-counter market where "Comsat" is traded. It sold at a premium of a few points over the $20 offering price, then eased below its peak price.

Losses exceeding a point were shown by Woolworth and American Airlines. Polaroid and Control Data were 1-point losers.

IBM recouped more than 4 points. Xerox added 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.50 to 817.06.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were irregular. U. S. government bonds showed little change.

COMSAT Stock Offered for Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five million shares of common stock in the infant Communications Satellite Corp. were offered for public sale today, upon the clearance of COMSAT's final prospectus by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Investors were expected to snap up the stock at $20 a share. With another $100 million already subscribed by the communications industry, the public purchases will finance the launching of a fleet of satellites to provide a commercial telephone, television and message system around the globe by 1967.

The public offering is being made by more than 1,200 underwriters and investment houses across the country. Most are expected to ration shares among their customers, in keeping with the mandate of Congress that COMSAT stock be given the widest possible public ownership.

Reynolds' Facade of Indecision On Renomination Wearing Thin

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. Reynolds is finding it increasingly difficult to maintain the pretense that he has not yet decided whether he will run for renomination and re-election.

At his most recent news conference he was unable to suppress a grin as he repeated to reporters that he does not yet know definitely what he will do.

The governor knows that the correspondents are sure he is already running without benefit of a declaration of candidacy, and that they know that he knows. It is a little game that is played in each election year by high ranking public officials. The safe rule is that a highly placed elective officer doesn't quit, unless he runs for another place.

Office Tenure

Virtually all of the governors of the state who have held office this far have sought re-election. Most of them have had two terms, although there have been conspicuous exceptions lately. A few have had three terms. Nobody has had more, although one man served seven years through the circumstance of a change in tenure laws.

Look for a drive in the next session of the state legislature for tightening the requirements under the state insurance agent licensing laws, with the backing of the state insurance department.

The board of directors of the Wisconsin Association of Insurance Agents recently named a special committee to study desirable revisions, building on the licensing changes recently enacted in some other states.

Tax Repeal Request

The Wisconsin State Telephone association, noting the legislature's recent repeal of the sales tax on electricity bills of householders, has approved a demand upon the legislature for a similar abandonment of the three per cent state tax on intrastate telephone charges.

The telephone company managers claim that the tax is unjust and discriminatory because the state has laid no such burden on any other public utility service.

The state department of taxation, in its guidance bulletin for local assessors, reports that there is apparently an increase in the movement of dairy and beef cattle in the spring, as a means of avoiding the May 1 personal property tax assessment of livestock.

The law requires the assessor to list cattle for taxation "where they are customarily kept." If the problem of moving animals between taxation districts creates more serious enforcement problems, the department hints, it may ask the legislature to change the laws to provide effective enforcement.

School Bond Issues

Are voters becoming more cautious about bond issue ratification?

The state department of taxation notes that a survey of schools last year showed 63 bond issue proposals for school plant construction, with 16 of them defeated. The ratio was the highest in a long time.

With more than 2,000 research projects employing 1,000 researchers now underway, the University of Wisconsin is making progress toward Pres. Fred H. Harrington's goal of making it one of the major research institutions in the country. The reason for the huge acceleration of research activity is the availability of U. S. government money. Nearly two-thirds of the school's research budget, currently totalling $29 million a year, comes from Washington, only 20 per cent from University or state tax-supported funds.

Meyer Cohen, the Green Bay lawyer appointed to the University of Wisconsin board of regents last week by Gov. Reynolds, would have been named to that seat by former Gov. Nelson if he had won another term.

Only one regent's term expires each year, with the result that governors often find it difficult to choose from the many men and women eager to have the prestigious appointments.

One of the disappointments of Ellis Jensen of Janesville, whose seat Cohen will occupy, is that he did not achieve the presidency of the board during his nine-year tenure because contemporary board chairmen were usually re-elected.

Road Construction

Because Gov. Reynolds has said he will continue to plug for an accelerated main-line road construction program in spite of the adverse vote in the spring referendum, road interests will probably note the non-committal expression on the same subject in the new Republican state voluntary party platform.

It avoids discussion of new construction altogether, and points to past highway development achievements under "Republican leadership".

Charles K. Barnett, new Greene County superintendent of schools, delved into a large leather-backed book he found in the superintendent's court house office dating back to the 1860s.

He found that S.F. Corrington, county school superintendent 100 years ago, went to Bloomington, Ill., and his expenses were $23. He squandered 75 cents on an office spittoon and spent two bits for a flue cover.

times within a year is likely to become a footnote to the history of the conservation department. The northern Wisconsin amateur naturalist has three times been refused confirmation by the Republican state senate.

The fourth nomination by the governor last week was a technical matter, to put the issue before the state supreme court in a new test of the governor's appointive powers in such agreements with the senate.

Cranberry Growers Plan Referendum On Marketing Order

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin cranberry growers will vote on establishment of a marketing order, the State Department of Agriculture reported. A referendum will be conducted by mail within the next 45 days.

Growers petitioned the department to conduct the referendum. If an order is approved, growers will be assessed two cents per barrel and the money will go for research.

Wisconsin produces 400,000 barrels of cranberries annually. 33 per cent of the nation's output. The crop is harvested in 17 counties, mainly in the central, north central and northwestern sections of the state.

Gasoline 'Branded' to Discourage Pilferage

CHICAGO (AP) — A red dye added to gasoline belonging to New York State's Public Works Department may end pilferage.

A trade magazine, Fleet Owner, reports that even a drop of the gasoline containing the dye will glow under fluorescent light. The prevention of theft is aimed at workers who draw cans of gasoline for field equipment and divert them to private cars.

Rusk Refuses Reply To Laird Criticism On Southeast Asia

Congressman Hits at 'False Premises' in Honolulu Talks

BY ROBERT MYERS
HONOLULU (AP) — American policy makers, in the final hours of their secret strategy talks, were occupied today with the question of what more the United States must do to prop up Southeast Asia against intensified Communist pressure.

The two-day meeting already was setting off political reverberations in election-conscious Washington. But the assembled diplomatic and military authorities at Pacific Command headquarters appeared to ignore—at least officially—everything but the subjects at hand.

Efforts to solve the Southeast Asia crisis began Monday with a more-than nine-hour session that convened in a heavily guarded room, moved to a private beach for a working lunch and closed back behind locked doors.

Silent on Details
That same schedule was in force today with most of the officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who presided, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who planned to fly home to Washington after final adjournment about dusk.

None of the conferences would disclose what directions their meetings were taking. It appeared likely that details of any recommendations will be revealed only after approval by President Johnson.

Political reaction to the talks came from Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the Republican congressional cam-

No Comment on Laird
Laird said executive policy in Southeast Asia is unrealistic in its approach to Communist-inspired problems.

Rusk, asked about Laird's charge, declined comment. The assembled Cabinet officers, ambassadors and military leaders have been instructed by the turn to Page 6 Col. 7

Shastri Gets Party Vote to Succeed Nehru

Pledges to Continue Efforts for United, Socialist India

BY DAVID LANCASHIRE
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's ruling Congress party named mild-mannered Lal Bahadur Shastri

by acclamation today to succeed the late Prime Minister Nehru. He pledged to work for Nehru's goal of a united, Socialist India.

Shastri said shortly after Congress party members of Parliament named him their leader, a designation which automatically carried nomination as prime minister.

Shastri, 59, gave no clue to the foreign policy he will pursue. He indicated high regard for Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, a leading candidate for the foreign minister's post.

Welcomes Support
Shastri wept as he recalled Nehru's death last week and said of Mrs. Gandhi: "Her continued association with us will be a source of strength to all of us."

He welcomed the support of former Finance Minister Morarji Desai, his opponent who yielded after a determined five-day succession struggle.

"I am sure this will generate a new confidence in the country and will have an impact on the outside world also," Shastri said.

Shastri said the party's im-

Johnson Says U. S. Aiming to Halt Red Tide

Southeast Asian Future at Stake, President Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the aim of Honolulu talks on Southeast Asia is to promote the "efficiency and effectiveness" of American moves to stem the Communist tide in that part of the world.

Johnson said the future of all of Southeast Asia is at stake in Laos and South Viet Nam.

It is not just jungle warfare but a struggle for freedom on all fronts, he said in a statement read to a news conference. It was the President's first meeting with reporters since May 9.

Peace U. S. Aim

Citing peace as the aim of American policy, Johnson said the United States will "keep its word" to help the people of South Viet Nam maintain their freedom. In this connection, he read a letter which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent to the president of South Viet Nam in 1954 spelling out American policy.

"It was a good letter then and it's a good letter now," he said. Johnson, who met with some 25 reporters in his office, declined to be drawn into any extended discussion of Southeast Asian problems. He said he thought that should await completion of the Honolulu talks by top military, diplomatic and intelligence officials.

However, when Johnson was asked about a weekend statement by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., that the American government has laid plans for carrying the Vietnamese war into the northern part of that country, Johnson replied:

"I know of no plans that have been made."

On other topics, Johnson:

—Emphasized that the United

Denies Guilt in Buddhist Crisis

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese Army Maj. Dang Sy pleaded innocent today to a charge of "attempted and premeditated murder" in connection with a bloody incident in Hue that precipitated the Buddhist crisis last year.

Dang Sy, 37, went on trial before a nine-man revolutionary court similar to tribunals that sentenced Ngo Dinh Can, brother of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem, and Can's aide Phan Quang Dong, to death last April. They were shot May 9.

Eight persons were killed and 15 wounded after Dang Sy's troops opened fire to quell a Buddhist demonstration in Hue on May 8, 1963. The demonstration was held in defiance of a government ban.

Dang Sy said he was acting under orders from his superiors to maintain order.

New Wave of Typhoid May Hit Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — The city of Aberdeen braced today for a possible third wave in its typhoid epidemic.

Already 224 persons have been stricken and one woman has died. Another 17 suspected cases are in crowded hospitals and reports of infection are turning up in other parts of the country.

The original outbreak in this seaside city of 186,000 was blamed on a can of defective corned beef sold in a supermarket. The victims spread the disease to neighbors.

Today could be crucial in the fight to confine the disease said city health officer, Dr. Ian MacQueen.

"If there is a third wave—and we should know about the middle of the week—then matters will be very serious," he said. Sixty-four cases were added Monday to the mounting toll. It was the biggest one-day rise since the epidemic broke out 11 days ago.

Aberdeen remained under siege, with schools and entertainment spots closed and trade half dead. People have been warned not to enter or leave the city.

Group Regains Polaris Corp. Board Control

Resignations Climax Bitter Battle Over Management Policy

Forces supporting Milwaukee banker Elliot Fitch were victorious Monday in regaining control of the $40 million Polaris Corp., a widely diversified holding company.

The battle, which raged hot and heavy between two factions for weeks, was climaxed by the resignation of Fitch's former protegee, John H. Kelly, 35, as president.

Among the 1,200 Polaris shareholders are several in the Fox Valley area.

Aligned with the pro-Fitch forces was John B. Torinus, a vice president of the Post-Corperation and editor of the daily and Sunday Post-Crescent, who instituted court action against the Kelly-led management two weeks ago.

Torinus took his action as a stockholder of Polaris Corp., obtaining a restraining order against the Kelly group.

Polaris stock, traded over the counter, dipped about three points during the management fight but recovered one and a half points as of today.

Kelly Resigns

Monday's chain of events represented a full capitulation by Kelly and supporters.

Kelly announced his resignation and those of four directors who had backed him in a drive that led to the ouster of Fitch as president on April 27. The five also agreed to end all ties with Polaris and its subsidiaries.

Fitch, one of the founders of Polaris three years ago and head of the Marine Corp., a bank holding company, and directors who supported him against Kelly the elected F. S. Cornell as president.

Cornell will retire next month as executive vice president of Milwaukee's A. O. Smith Corp.

Polaris holdings include Milwaukee's Marine Plaza, the City Bank and Trust Co. a commercial and industrial building firm, and television and radio station interests.

Magazine Firm Given To College

The Catholic Digest, the nation's largest paid-circulation Catholic publication, has been given to the College of St. Thomas, the archdiocesan liberal-arts institution announced today.

The gift of the magazine was made by the Rev. Louis A. Gales, president of The Catholic Digest Inc. and the Rev. Paul Bussard, publisher. The two diocesan priests were co-owners of the St. Paul-based magazine, first publishing in 1936.

College and magazine officials declined to estimate the value of the gift, toward which negotiations have been moving over the last two months. The transfer of ownership agreement was approved this week by the College's Board of Trustees and Archbishop Leo Binz of St. Paul in consultation with the Board of Archdiocesan Consultants.

Included in the transfer are the auxiliary operations of the Catholic Digest Book Club, the Decency in Reading Program, associated with 70 other Catholic magazines and 98 magazines of general interest, the Junior Catholic Book Shelf, the Catholic Market, a quarterly magazine for administrators of parishes, schools, hospitals, colleges, high schools and other institutions and Catholic living, a monthly supplement for The Register newspaper chain.

Kimberly-Clark Would Use Port

Company Traffic Manager Says Outagamie Field 'Much Handier'

An official of Kimberly-Clark Corp. today testified that with a proposed crosswind runway, the paper company would use the new Outagamie County airport extensively.

Leo J. McCoy, K-C passenger traffic manager, testified today at a hearing conducted by the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission on Outagamie County's request for state and federal aid for the 1965 phase of construction work.

McCoy also said that Winnebago County Airport, which K-C now uses, is 20 miles from the company's offices.

Projects Planned

Earlier in the hearing, J. L. Donaghue, president of the Fritz Wolf, hearing examiner for the aeronautics commission, firm, Park Forest, Ill., the firm asked McCoy, "Will it be a company policy to pick up and deliver passengers at the new airport if there is a crosswind runway?"

McCoy answered, "Yes, it will."

Much Handier

He said the new Outagamie County airport is much handier to the firm's offices. McCoy said that Kimberly - Clark, in the conduct of its business, maintains a fleet of three aircraft, One is a Fairchild F-27 twin-engine turboprop. In addition, the company operates a Douglas D-3 and a Beechcraft twin Bonanza.

"From the standpoint of Kimberly - Clark Corp.," McCoy said, "it would be very useful to have a cross wind runway capable of handling these airplanes at the new Outagamie County Airport."

"This airport is approximately five miles from the main office of the corporation, and only about four miles from the sales training center."

"Obviously," he said, "this airport would be quicker and easier to reach for the majority of Kimberly-Clark's passengers."

The figure includes $455,000 for 764 acres of land needed for the proposed crosswind runway; $820,000 to construct the 5,200 foot northeast-southwest runway and warming pad plus a connecting taxiway and apron; $75,000 for high intensity runway lights; $19,200 for T-hanger area bituminous paving; and $31,200 for perimeter fencing for the entire airport.

During the hearing, county representatives formally requested 50-50 matching federal and state funds for the 1965 construction phase of the new Outagamie airport now being built in the Town of Greenville, west of Appleton.

The 1965 federal and state aid programs take in the fiscal year which begins July 1.

NEW LONDON — Two accidents—one involving a personal injury—with damages of more than $100 each were reported to the New London police during the holiday weekend.

Miss Susan Bonnin, 18, 301 W. Cedar St., Hortonville, was taken to the New London Community Hospital where she was treated for "severe" cuts and bruises after being in an accident at 1:25 p.m. Sunday. Miss Bonnin was a passenger in a car driven by Lee Shaw, route 1, New London.

Shaw told city police that he was headed north on U.S. 45 and was attempting to turn left onto U.S. 54. To avoid hitting an oncoming car, he pulled into a driveway of the Murphy Concrete Works near the intersection and hit a utility pole.

A car driven by Melvin Borchardt, 1401 Wyman St., also struck a utility pole on West Wolf River Avenue, at 8:15 p.m. Saturday. Damage to the car was estimated at $750. Borchardt told police he had fallen asleep.

The police report indicated Borchardt had left the scene of the accident and failed to report it to the department.

Man Gets 30 Days For Drunkenness

WAUPACA—George Swamer, 24, Hayward, appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen Monday on a charge of drunkenness and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail when he was unable to pay a $25 fine plus a $41 doctor and hospital bill.

Swamer was arrested Sunday when city police found him sleeping at the J and J Laundry, Churchill Street. Police were unable to awaken Swamer. He was taken to the Riverside Memorial Hospital where he was examined by a doctor. He became uncontrollable and had to be placed under police guard for the rest of the night.

Burning Permits Not Needed in 2 Counties

Burning permits will not be required until further notice in Waupaca and Waushara counties, according to an announcement by the Wisconsin Conservation Department.

The announcement applies to all lands outside cities and villages. The department reminds persons doing burning still are responsible for fire suppression costs and damages if their fires escape their control.

Other counties affected are Marquette, Green Lake and Portage counties.

After Recent Theft

Security Tightened on U. S. Archives Building

BY MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Archives Building, where the records of a nation 187 years old, has tighter security regulations since a recent theft.

But authorities have no fear of anyone stealing the Declaration of Independence or other great documents.

"We feel there's absolutely no possibility of anyone making off with the real national treasures," Dr. Robert H. Bahmer, deputy archivist of the United States, said in an interview.

Despite elaborate safeguards, presidential letters and other documents valued at $500,000 were stolen from the research area.

Freedom Charters The three great charters of freedom of the United States are enshrined in the exhibition hall of the Archives Building.

These are the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights.

During the hours the building is open to the public, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., a guard stands by the great documents, enclosed in glass cases.

After the great bronze doors of the building are closed, slowly an electric mechanism begins to operate.

Each of the seven sealed glass cases containing the precious parchments begin to descend. It takes one minute for them to sink to a 50-ton vault, 20 feet below the floor, there to spend the night.

Steel Vault The vault is of steel and reinforced concrete with floor and walls 1 foot, 3 inches thick. The two doors of the same thickness that lock over it weigh 5 tons each. The vault is fireproof.

Another Russian Treaty

Representatives of the United States and the Soviet Union have signed a consular treaty which now goes to the United States Senate for the necessary two-thirds approval for ratification. It is an unusual agreement and if it passes the Senate test and what are bound to be some stringent criticisms, it may become a model document for other agreements with Red satellite nations.

The U.S. officials sought the agreement because we need more protection for Americans traveling in Russia. The treaty stipulates that any American detained or arrested must be able to confer with American officials within four days of his detention and the detention itself must be made public within three days. The agreement was particularly sought after Professor Frederick Barghoorn was held incommunicado for thirteen days last fall on suspicion of espionage.

In something of an exchange for this increased protection for the increasing number of Americans traveling in Russia—last year there were about 15,000—the treaty provides for complete diplomatic immunity for consular officials if they are regular foreign service officers. This means that they cannot be held for espionage. Usually consular agreements give immunity only to officials while engaged in consular business. But American advocates of the treaty insist that the bargain is a good one because this section of the treaty will also protect American consular officials who now may be charged with espionage at the whim of the Kremlin and according to the way the diplomatic winds blow.

The Russians apparently wanted the treaty in order to increase trade contacts in the United States. Consulates will be opened probably in New York and Chicago and eventually on the West coast. The major duties of consular officials involve liaison between the host government and tourists including interpretive services, travel documents, legal papers and explanations of local laws and regulations. An American consulate will probably be established in Leningrad.

Will the treaty open the door to more widespread Russian espionage in this country? Conceivably a consular official could head a spy ring and be protected by the immunity. But the risks involved seem to be offset by the added protections offered to Americans in Russia—if the Russians abide by the treaty. And they will do so as long as they feel it is to their advantage.

Appleton's Labor Problems

Because the City of Appleton and the labor union representing some of its employees have been unable to agree on the terms of a 1964 work contract after negotiating since last fall, the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) has been requested by both sides to enter the picture.

Under the Wisconsin Municipal Employee Act, municipal workers can designate a union as their bargaining agent in dealing with a municipality. The object of union-city contract conferences is for the purpose of collective bargaining in keeping with the framework of the law.

Appleton has now joined the ranks of a few other Wisconsin cities who have had labor problems. The city will be involved in two actions soon, namely: factfinding, and defending itself against unfair labor practices, the latter charge made by Teamsters Local 563.

Because contract negotiations proved fruitless, the city and union requested the WERB to appoint a factfinder. He is Atty. Philip Marshall of Milwaukee. As factfinder he will listen to arguments on both sides, take testimony and then make recommendations.

However, none of the findings or recommendations will be binding unless both parties in the dispute agree that they be. The city and labor union will share the expense of factfinding, which can range from $100 to $200 or more a day. There are 14 issues in dispute.

The second action involving the city and union is also most significant because a charge has been made that the Common Council and its Personnel Committee allegedly committed an unfair labor practice by revising work rules and cancelling union dues checkoff pending outcome of negotiations and factfinding.

The over-all package of claims and counterclaims of city and union representatives over a period of several months will now come under the scrutiny of those charged with dealing with labor-management problems.

We believe both sides should be willing to accept the recommendations of the factfinder to clear the air once and for all and make for better city-labor relations in the future.

Look Who Wants to Negotiate!

The offer by Red China to take part in another 14 nation conference to discuss the fate of Laos and indirectly that of all of Southeast Asia has China in the role the United States would like to play—that of bargaining from a position of strength.

Every major commentator on our policies in Southeast Asia has emphasized the importance of our not trying to make any more agreements with the Communists in Asia until we have demonstrated that our military force can dictate some harsher terms. Senator Fulbright pointed this out although it was generally overlooked in his speech about American myths. Ambassador to Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge, Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai Stevenson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara have all agreed with the more right wing advocates of winning a few engagements before talking terms.

But the United States has done nothing to implement the statements. Secretary McNamara made a couple more trips to Saigon and then told a Senate committee that better planes were being sent although he insisted the old ones were really good enough. There were repeated warnings that we might be pushed too far and "carry the war to the North." The fleet steamed a little bit closer. Some United States jets zoomed over the Laotian Plain of Jars. Ambassador Stevenson told the General Assembly that his government would not "abandon the people of Viet Nam" or "stand idly by while Southeast Asia is overrun by armed aggressors."

But the Communists sent in troops.

We should not accept the offer, first made by France and then echoed by the Red Chinese, for another conference to discuss the situation which has gradually worsened since the last conference was held. But if the United States continues to conduct its affairs in Asia the way it has the last few months, then we must assume that the next time the offer is made all of Laos will be controlled by the Red Pathet Lao and General Khanh of Viet Nam will have been deposed for persecuting somebody or other but certainly not the invading Viet Cong. And our statesmen will still talk about the need to negotiate from a position of strength while they do absolutely nothing to gain that position.

Gen. Sherman Advances Steadily

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 4, 1864.

Philadelphia, June 1, 1864—News has been received here direct from Kingston, Tenn., which says Sherman arrived at Dallas last Saturday and pushed on with reinforcements to McPherson, and was to reach Atlanta by next Saturday unless a heavy force of rebels was met on the way.

At last accounts, Sherman was at Sweetwater town and had driven the rebels across the Chattahoochee, 12 miles from Atlanta. The main army under Gen. Thomas is advancing. He occupied Marietta on Monday, taking some 400 prisoners and a railroad train full of sick and wounded rebels with several cannon and small arms.

It is believed Atlanta will be in our possession before next Sunday. Sherman had a battle a few days previously and whipt Johnston badly. Rebel losses were 2,500—ours about 800. Johnston's troops are half of them green ones and they fight badly.

25 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, May 30, 1939.

While divers kept steadily at work on salvage operations of the sunken submarine Squalus off the New Hampshire coast, a 21-gun salute crashed over the rolling surface waters from the cruiser Brooklyn and destroyer Semmes. The salute was in tribute to the 26 crewmen who died in flooded after-compartments when the Squalus went down in 46 fathoms a week previously. Ashore, at Portsmouth Navy Yard, the 33 survivors attended memorial services for their comrades.

Miss Carrie E. Morgan, Appleton, was named an honorary member of Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society in education, at its meeting in Fond du Lac.

Marjorie Werner was elected president of the Neenah High Thespian Society and Thea Rausch was named secretary-treasurer. Named most outstanding members of the current year were Christie Jersild and Ruth Johnson.

Miss Dorothy Nelson, Neenah, was elected president of the Green Bay Baptist Young People's Association at an organization rally at Pound. Miss Dorothy Grant, also of Neenah, was named secretary.

Owen Kester was elected president of the Beaver Dam 4-H Club at Fremont. Other new officers were Carl Herrick, Jack Abraham and Lorraine Marquardt.

10 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, June 1, 1954.

James Ferron and James Garvey, both of Appleton, and John Lundig, Menasha, were among the seniors receiving bachelor of arts degrees from the University of Notre Dame.

Miss Gretchen Schwebbs, Appleton, won honorable mention for her critique on artist Gauguin at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo. Announcement of the award was made at the college honors convocation.

Taking part in a ballet number in the "Toast of River-view" talent revue by River-view Country Club juniors included Barbie Purdy, Margie Van Horn, Noel Furstenberg and Kathie Purdy. The ballet was called "Ramdrops and the Polar Bear" with young Kathie Purdy dancing the role of the bear.

President Slashes Summer Jobs For Students in Government

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

President Johnson is buoyantly riding two much-touted horses galloping briskly in exactly opposite directions.

On one hand, the President is vigorously exhorting Congress to enact his $962.5 million anti-poverty program—a major feature of which is a $190 million "Youth Corps" under which some 40,000 16-to-22-year-olds would be given special job training in unused army camps. Express purpose of this plan is to increase their employability.

On the other hand, in pursuit of his loudly-publicized economizing, the President has ordered a number of government departments and agencies to steeply slash their annual hiring of thousands of youths for summer work. Under this backstage move, these jobs, chiefly filled by students, have been cut more than 50 per cent.

So far, there has been no White House explanation for this striking contradiction in policy.

Hardest hit by the unannounced student job axing are the Agriculture and Interior Departments. Under the President's economizing edict, these much-sought summer jobs have been whittled from 27,000 to 15,000.

Applicants for this work, mainly in national parks and soil conservation, number three times the available openings.

A particularly sorrowful aspect of this undercover clampdown is that hundreds of students already had been notified to report to work. Now Agriculture and Interior are embarrassedly sending out new notices canceling the first.

For three Democratic senators up for re-election, this situation is even more distressing.

A large proportion of these summer jobs are in the states represented by Senators Henry Jackson, Wash.; Gale McGee, Wyo.; and Frank Moss, Utah. McGee and Moss admittedly face highly uncertain campaigns.

All three senators are storming the White House vehemently urging this economizing be reconsidered.

MORE OF SAME—Among other agencies hit by the drastic student job cutback are the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments, and the National Aeronautics & Space Administration.

The latter is one of the severest hit. Under the President's order, NASA's summer work allotment has been slashed around 75 per cent. The reduction in the other agencies ranges from 25 to 50 per cent.

Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges has informed his assistants that the Department's student jobs have been chopped from 1,300 to 650. Most of those eliminated are the most sought—typists, file clerks and other office work.

Relatively lightly affected are openings for senior college students in engineering, accounting and business management.

TOO MANY HATS—President Johnson has decided that Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the late President, is wearing too many hats.

Shriver is head of both the Peace Corps and the anti-poverty program, which still has to be enacted by Congress. It is now awaiting a House vote, having been approved by the Public Works Committee.

The President wants the director of this program to devote full time to it and when it becomes law.

While this job hasn't been formally offered to Shriver, the President has indicated he can have it if he wants it—on one condition. If he takes it, he will have to give up the Peace Corps.

Which he will choose is still being weighed by Shriver.

THE "SNUGGERY"—Lately, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has taken to dropping in occasionally for an evening of quiet relaxation at a popular inn a few short blocks from her stately 18th Century home in historic Georgetown—which was a thriving seaport decades before the existence of Washington.

The inn, dating back to colonial times, has four handsome dining rooms. The one visited by Mrs. Kennedy is known as the "Snuggery."

Smallish, with subdued lighting and decorations, and especially comfortable leather-covered swivel chairs, the "Snuggery" is popular with Georgetowners as an after-dinner lounge for a quiet drink and restful piano music.

Mrs. Kennedy usually arrives around 9:30, accompanied by a friend and Secret Service guard.

Few are aware of her presence, and the Georgetowners who are discreet give no indication of it. One recent evening, Mrs. Kennedy and her escorts had to wait 15 minutes for a table. Usually she is seated toward the rear and stays an hour or so.

The management meticulously does not publicize her visits, but at the same time makes no secret of them.

When a reporter phoned to confirm this information, the manager readily acknowledged it. "Oh, yes, Mrs. Kennedy drops in now and then. She and her husband used to do that when he was a Senator and they lived on the other side of Wisconsin Avenue (the business street that bisects the historic "village," as its fashionable residents fondly refer to it)."

"Have there been any complications or trouble?" asked the newsmen.

"Certainly not," exclaimed the manager. "Mrs. Kennedy is a lady. There never is any trouble at our inn."

Mrs. Kennedy's big brick home, atop a knoll well back from the street, is viewed by hundreds daily. Sightseeing buses now include the mansion, flanked by two huge magnolias more than 100 years old, as part of their tours. The increasing throngs have become a problem for Mrs. Kennedy's neighbors.

To cope with the situation, a uniformed policeman is now stationed at the foot of the stone steps leading to her house, and a Secret Serviceman at the top of the stairs. The policeman directs the crowds to keep moving, and one of the functions of the Secret Serviceman is to keep sightseers from trying to peer into the front windows. That's not an uncommon occurrence.

Most of the tourists take pictures. But occasionally some drive up with the apparent intention of picnicking right on the street. This happened last Sunday afternoon, and the blithe visitors were quite indignant when told by the policeman to leave.

Unified Republican Slate for Campaign Took Lots of Doing

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — For the first time that most of its contemporary leaders and supporters can remember, the Republican Party has put into the field in a formal way a complete slate of state-wide candidates nearly six months before the fall elections.

Because there were no contests on the surface for principal nominations or organizational endorsements the whole proceeding seemed somewhat pat to some observers and perhaps to some of the party's members and sympathizers. The recent endorsement convention was a routine and humdrum affair to most of those who tended to compare it with what had gone before in the years of fierce and oftentimes bloody contests for nominations.

But that impression is a deceptive one. The seeming unanimity at the convention didn't merely happen, nor does it imply that there is a fatalism within the organization as suspected by some critics who wondered about the lack of candidate competition.

The result is precisely and almost miraculously what some of the party managers had planned many months ago. The achievement is a matter of some private surprise to themselves.

THE PLANNING

The party organization objective this year, in deference to a realistic assessment of the capacity of the Democratic foe, was to conserve candidate material, organization morale, and physical and monetary resources for a unified effort in the November campaign.

The essential requirement was to avoid costly and divisive primary struggles. The Republican organization leaders knew that they would sacrifice something in public interest and attention, but they were ready to pay the price.

The first indication of success in the difficult program was the elimination of the presidential primary contests which had been so wasteful and inconclusive in other years. The rallying of the party loyalists behind the favorite son candidacy of Rep. John W. Byrnes was aided obviously by an uncertainty about the national candidate situation. But the fact that it was brought off successfully was a minor miracle, nevertheless.

The party has now offered its strongest candidates for state-wide office in the positions in which most detached observers will agree they can be most effective.

But that didn't just happen either. Left to their own instincts and preferences, Wilbur Renk and Jack Olson would have run for the gubernatorial nomination. Both of them deferred to Warren Knowles, when they were persuaded of the practical advantages of a unified campaign to re-establish the party in power. In a primary contest, only one of those men would have survived. As the ticket has now emerged, the three will be a better campaign coalition than would otherwise have been available. If they are successful, they have an assurance of an indefinite continuation of their careers. Assembly Speaker Robert Haase wanted to run for lieutenant governor, but stood aside. There was some talk about an opponent in the primary against Attorney General George Thompson. That was eliminated.

THE RESULT

The result is a fair assessment is a ticket which in stature and stumping ability compares favorably with any GOP slate put in the field in two decades, with a clear shot at the November ballot boxes without the frustrations, wounds, and extravagant expenditure of money and strength in primary election struggles.

Considering the financial gains alone, the emergence of a unified Republican challenge of the Democratic state administration is a serious omen for Gov. Reynolds and Sen. Proxmire.

The Republicans have learned, or should have learned, during their last three losing campaigns that they cannot win with regular Republican votes alone. They must expand their electoral base. There is a tacit admission of the need in the themes of moderation stressed by the principal candidates in their endorsement acceptance speeches. There will be some grumbling on the far right, no doubt, but it is not likely to count for much. As Candidate Knowles put it, he intends that the party will stand in the main stream of Wisconsin thought.

Strictly Personal

Building Whole Man Real Job of Education

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
Do we really know what is "practical"? I suggest that much of the time, we do not.

We confuse the "obvious" with the "practical," and fail to recognize those non-obvious factors that are so often decisive in all areas of life.

Following a recent column of mine on the advantages of a liberal education in college, as opposed to a narrow technical one, I received a number of letters saying that my proposal was not "practical." If a man has to earn a living, these letters said, he must learn how to earn it in college.

But even taking this limited objective (which is not the true objective of a college education), my correspondents are quite wrong and quite impractical. There is heavy evidence that a technical training plays only a minor role in a successful career—certainly in management.

About a decade ago, Albert Mickerson of Socoy Vacuum Oil Co. stated that: "A survey of 76 American corporations reveals that a lack of specific skills accounted for only a shade over 10 per cent of the (executive) discharges, while character traits accounted for virtually 90 per cent."

Learning a trade is not the function of a university; it can be done much more cheaply and quickly in a trade school. A university is designed to turn out men and women who know how to reflect and to relate, who understand the past and can in some measure anticipate the future, who view the present as something problematic and not as something given.

So that, even on the most "practical" grounds, the college student who wants to learn to earn a living in any but the most routine task is better off developing himself as a person than harnessing himself into a technical course that will constrict his growth.

Western Unity Essential to World Peace

Opinion Must be Mobilized Against Communist Policies

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Sometimes the obvious is overlooked, if not avoided. The real need today, in coming to grips with the problem of southeast Asia, is not so much for a strategy conference on how the United States is to fight the war singly and with America alone making the sacrifices, but to get unity among the western powers and find ways to pinpoint Red China's responsibility for the chaos that her policies have produced in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

It is not the obligation of just the United States to help the people of southeast Asia to emerge from the state of oppression imposed upon them by a powerful country north of their borders. The real enemy in southeast Asia is Red China.

Today the realistic fact is that the smaller nations of southeast Asia, as well as those in other parts of the world, are helpless by themselves to preserve their independence or to develop their economic opportunities. Two major powers — Soviet Russia and Red China — threaten weaker nations by infiltration, by subversion, and even by military intervention as puppet armies and guerrillas are organized to stir up trouble. Russia's role in Cuba and Latin America generally is as reprehensible as Red China's aggression in Asia.

United Nations
The United States had hoped that some means of preserving international peace could be achieved by the United Nations, but this body has failed to measure up to its responsibilities. The organization has become the victim of insidious infiltration by the Communist regimes of Peking and Moscow.

The only recourse today is to tell the story to the people of the world so that opinion may be mobilized everywhere behind a group of nations willing to take the lead in bringing about the independence of the smaller countries.

The United States cannot conduct the crusade alone. It must have help from Great Britain and France and from all the countries which have achieved progress in self-government and can supply military and economic assistance.

Preserve Order
Under the charter of the United Nations, any group of countries may undertake measures collectively to preserve order. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was formed as a logical application of this provision of the U.N. charter.

But Europe itself now is a relatively stable condition, and the problem of war and peace is centered in Asia, just as a few months ago it was in Africa. But whether the trouble is in Africa or in Latin America or in Asia, some concert of nations to maintain order in the world is required.

It will not be necessary merely to use military force to preserve peace once unity is established among the free nations of the world. Again and again, the Communists have benefitted by the disunity among the western allies. Gen. de Gaulle today plays a lone hand. The British, who are closer to the point of view of the United States than any other nation, recognize that even two nations cannot do much alone, and that it will be come necessary for the public opinion of other countries to be aroused before there can be a unified approach to those problems in southeast Asia and elsewhere which are threatening the peace of the world.

Military Force
The assumption, moreover, that only military force can be used to bring about peace is erroneous. It is an instrument that can, of course, be applied as a last resort. But there are many other steps which can also prove effective. One of them is the consolidation of economic forces. The tendency of many nations is to let their business interests control foreign policy. But, in the long run, business will suffer more if there is disunity in the world. So it becomes necessary to unify all countries in a common economic policy and to avoid giving commercial benefits either to Russia or to Red China as long as they engage in policies of hostility toward the rest of the world.

Some new move is necessary to mobilize world opinion. The United Nations can provide a forum, but it cannot by itself put into effect the program necessary to assurance. This is because the Soviets have a veto power in the Security Council. The western nations, however, can act independently as a collective group, and this they can prepare to do, whether it is in the economic or military field.

Some way has to be devised to cause both Peking and Moscow to respect the wishes of the people of the rest of the world in their efforts to remain at peace. The small emerging nations must be permitted to develop their resources and their

Goldwater Talks as Confident as Ever

Rockefeller's Chances Boosted in California by Big Win in Oregon

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the tangled tale of the Republican presidential primaries, reaching their climax today in California, Sen. Barry Goldwater sounds more confident than ever.

On the night before the New Hampshire primary last March the Arizona was so cocky about success he said he "had it made." Later his campaign manager said this was a boner. The man who didn't even admit he was running — Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam — won and Goldwater and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, both of whom campaigned hard in the state, finished second and third.

Cockiness Gone
Last week, a few days before today's showdown in California, Goldwater, with some of the cockiness gone, said "I think we're winning this campaign." What happened between New Hampshire and California got tangled, indeed.

The next big shocker after New Hampshire was the Oregon primary where the still silent Lodge's name was entered. Pollsters seemed confident Lodge would win again against Goldwater and Rockefeller, both of whom campaigned there. Goldwater didn't do much campaigning. It was as if he had taken the pollsters at their word. It was Rockefeller who campaigned although by this time his chances looked dim. People wondered if he was running for exercise.

Rockefeller Won
But—Rockefeller won. Lodge finished second, and Goldwater third. This boosted the governor's chances against the senator in California where it would be strictly between both of them since Lodge wasn't entered there.

It was a blow to Goldwater, to make it tougher for him, the Lodge supporters decided to back Rockefeller in California against Goldwater who represents the conservative right wing of the party. Lodge and Rockefeller are moderates.

The Lodge people weren't enamored of Rockefeller. But if Rockefeller could beat Goldwater the latter's chances of winning the Republican nomination at the convention next month might be ruined, or so they could hope.

Chance For Lodge
With Goldwater out of the way at the convention, Lodge then might have a better chance since there was and is a lot of skepticism that Rockefeller, ven with a win in California, an get the nomination. In the midst of all this former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—who had refused to express a preference among candidates and said he wouldn't try to stop any of them or dictate the nominee—issued a statement. He listed the "principles and traditions" he felt the Republican candidate in November's election should hold. Some of the principles he mentioned did not fit Goldwater too well. Immediately there was a burst of interpretation across the country that Eisenhower, despite his previous insistence that he wouldn't butt in, had coolly tried to cut Goldwater's throat.

If true, it would have been a strange performance for the ex-president. It would seem that if he thought, for the good of the party and the country that Goldwater should be washed out, he would at least have said so forthrightly.

The statement and the interpretations cheered the Rockefeller forces and the Goldwater people seemed to be trying to ignore any implication that Eisenhower was shooting at Goldwater. The senator said Eisenhower's remarks were "most welcome."

Week of Silence
But then Monday, after a week of silence since his statement, Eisenhower was asked by newsmen how he thought Goldwater felt about his statement. The former president said, "You people read Goldwater out of the party. I didn't."

This seemed to put everything back where it was before

Judge Dumped From Bench

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield found judicial tenure is no protection against a defective swivel chair. He was momentarily dumped from the bench during a trial Monday. Kingfield was presiding over a condemnation suit when he suddenly sank from view behind the bench.

Spectators rushed to his aid. "I'm sorry to interrupt you," Kingfield told a lawyer who had been making an opening statement.

"This is the first time this has happened," he said looking at pieces of the chair that had collapsed under him. The trial resumed after another chair was obtained.

Eisenhower said anything but at least the Rockefeller people had had a week to make use of it.

By his own words, Goldwater doesn't have a chance for the nomination next month unless he wins today.

Earlier this year, long before the primaries began, he was asked: Could he win the nomination without winning in California with its 86 convention delegates to add to those he already had, perhaps 500?

He said "No. I can't win the nomination without California. No one could."

Monday night he said: "We are going to win tomorrow. I've never been so confident."

'Shared Time' Experiment to Go On While Planners Evaluate Program

Legality of Parochial-Public Venture Still to be Decided

BY EDWARD VAN BERKEL

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KIMBERLY — A "shared time" experiment started in schools here last fall will be continued next school year while the results of the first year will be evaluated by school administrators.

Shared time is the use of public school facilities and personnel by parochial school pupils for part of their school day.

Pupils from Holy Name of Jesus Catholic School here take some of their classes at the public school.

Two federal officials were here recently to study the program as part of a nationwide survey to be included in a congressional report of shared time. Legality of the local program is still to be decided.

Study Advancement

School administrators will study the pupil's advancement to determine whether the background gained by the shared time students to compete with public school students who have more extensive background in similar subjects.

Many here feel the program should be continued because it gives the children better subject background because of more facilities and smaller classrooms. They say all children should have the best education available.

Parochial school officials are hopeful shared time will continue. They say it reduces the number of pupils in other classes by providing additional classrooms. Financially, the savings to the parochial school are negligible.

Disciplinary Problem

Some problems arose with discipline particularly when a teacher of a morning shared time class wished to keep a student or group of students beyond normal school hours. These students were ordered to report back to the public or parochial school, depending on where the disciplinary action was taking.

place, following the last class in the afternoon.

Students found early they had better report as requested or a minor infraction could result in more serious measures. This, too, was classed as a minor problem, and was easily worked out by teachers and administrators.

Teacher Survey

In a survey of teachers to determine whether they would prefer handling shared time students rather than regular teacher programs, three answered yes, two answered no and six indicated it made no difference.

As to class behavior of shared time pupils, five felt it was better, six thought it was no different and none thought it worse. On the feeling of loyalty or "belonging" to the public schools six felt there was such a feeling and six felt not. Two of the 12 teachers involved felt there were more discipline problems and two of the 12 felt the students were not cooperative.

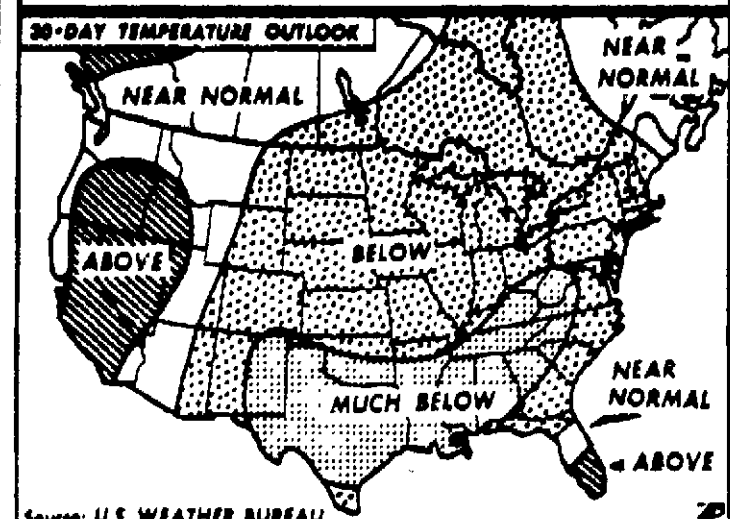

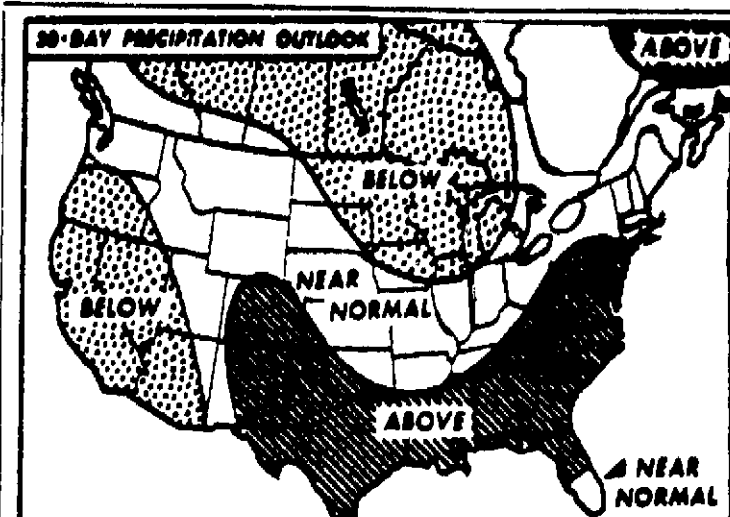

Teachers felt unanimously that parents approved of shared time as a result of comments made during interviews with parents on student progress. Teachers also felt it would help if shared time students could meet more often, had more use of the school library and if extra help could be provided some students after normal school hours.

Teachers were apprehensive when the program was started last fall, but now they are "satisfied," they say.

They report the vast majority of parochial school parents are cooperative and interested.

The parochial students attending the public school are not enrolled, thus the public school receives no state or federal aids for these pupils. They were not permitted to join in the hot lunch program which is financed partially by public funds.

School officials indicated an added cost to the school district of about $5,000 for educating the students during the past year. After waiting a full year for a ruling on the legality of the program, plans were made to continue the shared time venture in 1964-65.

Request State Aid

School board members have authorized Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, to apply for state aids for the shared time students for the coming year. It is hoped this will result in a ruling on the legality of the program.

Board members felt the district should request the aids to help enrich the program, if possible, and if denied it would be ascertained whether or not the program would be continued. Enrollments indicated the shared time students will increase in coming years which may have a big effect on school construction plans.

Overall, the first venture in Kimberly, believed to be one of the largest programs of its kind in the country, appears to have been successful. Much will still be learned from the program, particularly in 1964-65 when parochial school students in the eighth grade this year take their places as freshmen in the junior or high school.

'Litterbugs' Cost Wisconsin Record $474,000 in 1964

It cost a record high of $474,000 to clean up trash and litter along state trunk highways during 1963, Harvey Grasse, State Highway Commission chairman, has reported.

"This amounts to a rate of about $40 per mile for the cleanup of 11,600 miles of state highways," Grasse said, "and this is certainly an expensive habit for our citizens."

"But cleanup is only part of the cost," Grasse said. "We must also figure the construction work we could do with this money as well as the cost of accidents and deaths due to litter on the highways."

Cleanup costs had risen from $331,000 in 1960 to approximately $410,000 in 1961 and 1962 before climbing again this year. Part of the increase is due to refinements in methods of time-keeping and cost-accounting, but mostly it must be credited to increasing volumes of traffic.

People are Reason

"The main cause of litter is people," Grasse said, "and this can be proven on the highways, where more people in more cars travel more miles each year... and the litter grows in proportion."

"Litter prevention should be a concern for each of us," Grasse added. "We can all help to protect our state's natural beauty, to cut down the high costs of litter pickup, and to advance tourism as our third largest industry."

The collection of litter on state highways is undertaken by county highway departments under agreement with the State Highway Commission. The money used for this purpose would otherwise be used for needed construction and improvement projects on highways.

If you are tall and slim: Look for fabrics that are big and bold, giant checks, large floral prints. You can look well in bolero jackets and lots of pleated, full or gathered skirts.

Short and slender: Stick to soft, smooth fabrics. If you like two-piece outfits have them in the same overall color. Always look for petite collars, cuffs, small pockets, and choose your one piece dresses with soft gathered skirts or unpressed pleats.

Tall and stocky: Never wear loud, bright colors. Look for straight or "A" line skirts. Avoid ruffles and cape collars. Always make a break at your waistline and stick to single breasted suits or coats.

Short and stocky: Up and down stripes are good for you in collars, rayons or soft blended fabrics. Have slimmer skirts or slightly flared ones that billow out below the hips. Solid fabrics in quiet colors are always good for you. Never wear fancy belts or anything that calls attention to your middle.

Perfect average figure: Lucky you! Wear anything you wish, but be sure you are well put together.

"The federal government made it possible for us not to succeed," said James Frechette, a leader of his people who has grown weary in the battle for success.

"The government left no way for these people to work their way out of trouble," Frechette said. "They feel we can scratch our way back."

Hope for Success

"I'm hopeful of success, but not optimistic," said Frechette, who for 13 years served as president of the Menominees' former Tribal Council, which many years ago replaced the chief system of tribal government.

But on the other hand, George

Second of Series

Bowan, who became Menominee County clerk when the former reservation was made Wisconsin's 72nd county, said, "Termination, even with its problems, has been a success. The people are accepting it very well."

There were some who said the majority has accepted the change, others who are little interested one way or the other, and a small percentage which has refused to accept termination and never will.

Needed Time

"We made it plain to the Congress when termination was being considered that we needed time and money," said Frechette. "We got neither. And a tribal plan that would have worked wasn't accepted."

The Tribal Council, which had regulated all tribal affairs while the Menominees were wards of the government, was dissolved with termination. It was replaced by the Menominee Enterprise Corporation, which took over ownership of all tribal held lands and the operation of the tribe's sawmill, which remains the county's only industry. Each Menominee was given ownership and income bonds in the corporation.

"The mill was old and we wanted a low interest loan to get it into top shape before termination," said Frechette, who questions how such aid can be made to foreign countries when there was none for his people. "By modernizing the mill before termination, it could have made more money to support our people and the county while we sought new industry and commerce."

Spent Reserve

"Instead, we spent $1 million of our own funds on the mill and with other expenditures reduced our $2½ million reserve to $500,000. We can no longer use the interest from the reserve to support our schools and a hospital, and everything must be paid through taxes. We knew we didn't have the tax base. And with current maximum taxation we are unable to attract new industry and commerce."

Frechette said commercial diversification was the only way to improvement. But even with that, he said, it "will take a jolt. long time to remove the worst of the poverty."

Menominee County does not have a supermarket or anything close to it. It does not have a theater. It does not have a used car lot.

There are several very small grocery stores, three taverns that sell beer only, and two liquor stores. But 94 per cent of all the county's tax income is paid through the logging and sawmill operations of Menominee Enterprises.

County Judge Kenneth Traeger said that if the county and tribal identity are to survive, there must be additional sources of income, "even if a new industry had to be subsidized."

He said "Relief won't work—that's only temporary money and drains away incentive. There must be jobs and incentive. The Indian must be given a chance to earn a better living for his family. Given the chance he can do it. The Indian is capable. He is as good as any white man."

Bowan, one of the few non-Menominees holding county posts, explained that the county taxed to its absolute maximum and was just able to meet its 1963 budget of $450,000, including $114,500 for schools.

Challenged Judgment

Bowan, who challenged the judgment that Menominee County is a "pocket of poverty," said total tax delinquencies since termination amount to only $29,000. He also said some of the Menominees still haven't gotten over their introduction to property taxes.

He explained that the introduction was a doublebarreled

Kentucky Skies Yield New Household Pet

LOUISVILLE (AP)—The new Westmeier pocketed the bird, addition to Bob Westmeier's household literally fell out of the sky.

Westmeier was walking down town when a young canary fell at his feet. It obviously had been flying for some time and its strength was gone.

Westmeier pocketed the bird, took it home and warmed it up. In time the canary began to peep a little and, when no one claimed the singer, Westmeier decided to give it a home.

Nitrogen Gas Used To Guard Perishables

CHICAGO (AP) — Nitrogen gas is being used to control the atmosphere for fruits and vegetables to preserve them during transit.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company recently demonstrated how Controlled Atmosphere involves the use of nitrogen gas to maintain high nitrogen-low oxygen atmosphere within the refrigerated piggyback trailer.

Reduces Respiration

The nitrogen puts the lettuce to sleep by sharply reducing the high natural respiration of the leafy stuff. The technique also can be applied to other fruits and vegetables.

Apple shippers have used the nitrogen gas atmosphere for shipping and say they have extended the marketing season of high perishable MacIntosh apples to 10 months instead of 2.

The produce maintains its fresh crispness during long haul trips.
